International Day of people with disabilities

On the 3rd of December, we celebrate the international day of people with disabilities! This day of celebration is a reminder that we are all different but equal, that we must respect them and in addition, there is no reason to feel sorry for them because that is how they have learned to live. All we need to do is be understanding and inclusive.

WE ARE EQUAL

We are all equal
and the fact that these people have a disability does not make them
inferior or unworthy to live a quiet life. Our help and treatment are

HELPING TIPS

- Not to park in places that are exclusively for the disabled
- Offer them a place to sit in public transports
- Give them a priority order
- Not to park on the sidewalks or on the ramps so that they have the opportunity to pass
- DO NOT MAKE FUN OF THEM

THANKS FOR READING

All these little things we think are useless, can help the world become better !

International day

International Day of Persons with Disabilities (IDPD) is a UN day that is celebrated every year on 3 December. It all began when the General Assembly of the UN in 1976 declared 1981 the International Year of People with Disabilities calling for an action plan at national, regional and international level, with particular emphasis on equal opportunities, rehabilitation and prevention of disabilities. In 2020, the UN's theme was "Building Back Better: toward a disability-inclusive, accessible and sustainable post COVID-19 World". WHO supported this theme by underlining the importance of fostering an inclusive culture and responding to the urgent needs of people with disability in all aspects of society, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The importance of it

The day is about promoting the rights and well-being of persons with disabilities at every level of society and development, and to raise awareness of the situation of people with disabilities in all aspects of political, social, economic, and cultural life. Everyone that joins the OHE in observing this day each year, power the importance of securing the rights of people with disabilities, so they can participate fully, equally and effectively in society with others, and face no obstacles in all aspects of their lives.

We are all equal

The estimated one billion people living with disabilities worldwide face many barriers to inclusion in some key aspects of society. As a result, they do not enjoy access on an equal basis as others which includes areas such as transportation and employment but also social participation like politics or entertainment. Some people can't understand we are all equal and in this way they hurt their feelings.

Let's celebrate this special day together,
in honor of those
strong people !

Stay safe and take care !
